Fig. 1 *Effect of temperature on the growth of Trichoderma reesei on different carbon sources*. The growth of T. reesei was measured on different carbon sources at different temperatures. The growth was measured as the optical density (OD) at 600 nm. The data were expressed as the mean \pm SD of three independent experiments. The growth was significantly different from the control at $p < 0.05$.

in 1991. One of the agencies proposed the inclusion of two habitats considered of being of highest biological significance: the Florida scrub and the sandhills. The Florida scrub is a unique and highly diverse ecosystem that is found only in the state of Florida. It is a type of dry, open forest that is characterized by its low, scrubby vegetation and its high degree of biodiversity. The sandhills are a type of coastal dune habitat that is found along the Atlantic coast of the United States. They are characterized by their rolling dunes and their unique plant and animal communities. The inclusion of these two habitats in the proposed rule would provide for the protection of these important ecosystems and the species that depend on them.

Dacers file motion for reconsideration

THE UNIVERSITY of the Philippines (UP) filed a motion for reconsideration of the decision of the Department of Education (DepEd) to allow the admission of students from the University of the Philippines (UP) to the Department of Education (DepEd) schools.

UP President Armin Luistro said that the decision of the DepEd to allow the admission of students from the University of the Philippines (UP) to the Department of Education (DepEd) schools is a "disgrace" to the DepEd.

With the passage of the National Labor Relations Act, employers are required to bargain with the union. But, in the case of the public sector, the law is not as clear. In Beck, the Supreme Court ruled that public employees have the right to join a union, but not to pay for union activities. This decision has been widely criticized, and many states have passed laws to protect the public sector union's right to represent its employees.

1. The first part of the document is a letter from the President of the United States to the Congress, dated January 1, 1865. It is a very important document, as it is the first official communication from the President to the Congress since the Reconstruction era. The letter discusses the state of the Union and the progress of Reconstruction. It also mentions the President's plans for the future of the country.

'N.O.A.H.' served its purpose

By Dave Karger
With the release of N.O.A.H., the indie film has finally found its audience. The movie, which follows a group of young people in a small town, has been a critical success since its debut at the Sundance Film Festival. It's a testament to the power of independent cinema that a film like this can find its way to a wide audience.
